

Historic Govan: Archaeology and Development

The 'Historic Govan: Archaeology and Development' book by Stephen Driscoll and Chris Dalglish is available exclusively for £9.50 at Govan Old Parish Church.

“The book is part of the Scottish Burgh Survey, a series designed to identify the archaeological potential of Scotland’s historic towns. This survey offers a broad-ranging synthesis of the history and archaeology of Govan, and aims to inform conservation guidance for future development. The authors consider where other areas of archaeological potential lie, to inform future management of Govan’s historic environment, and pose questions about the evolution of Scotland’s burghs in general.”